

06 Porto di Mare MARKET

Porto di Mare is a neighborhood located in the south part of Milan. At present it has an economic boom due to the new transportation projects of the City of Milan. Based on the transportation hub map this neighborhood becomes the entrance of the metropolitan area of Milan.

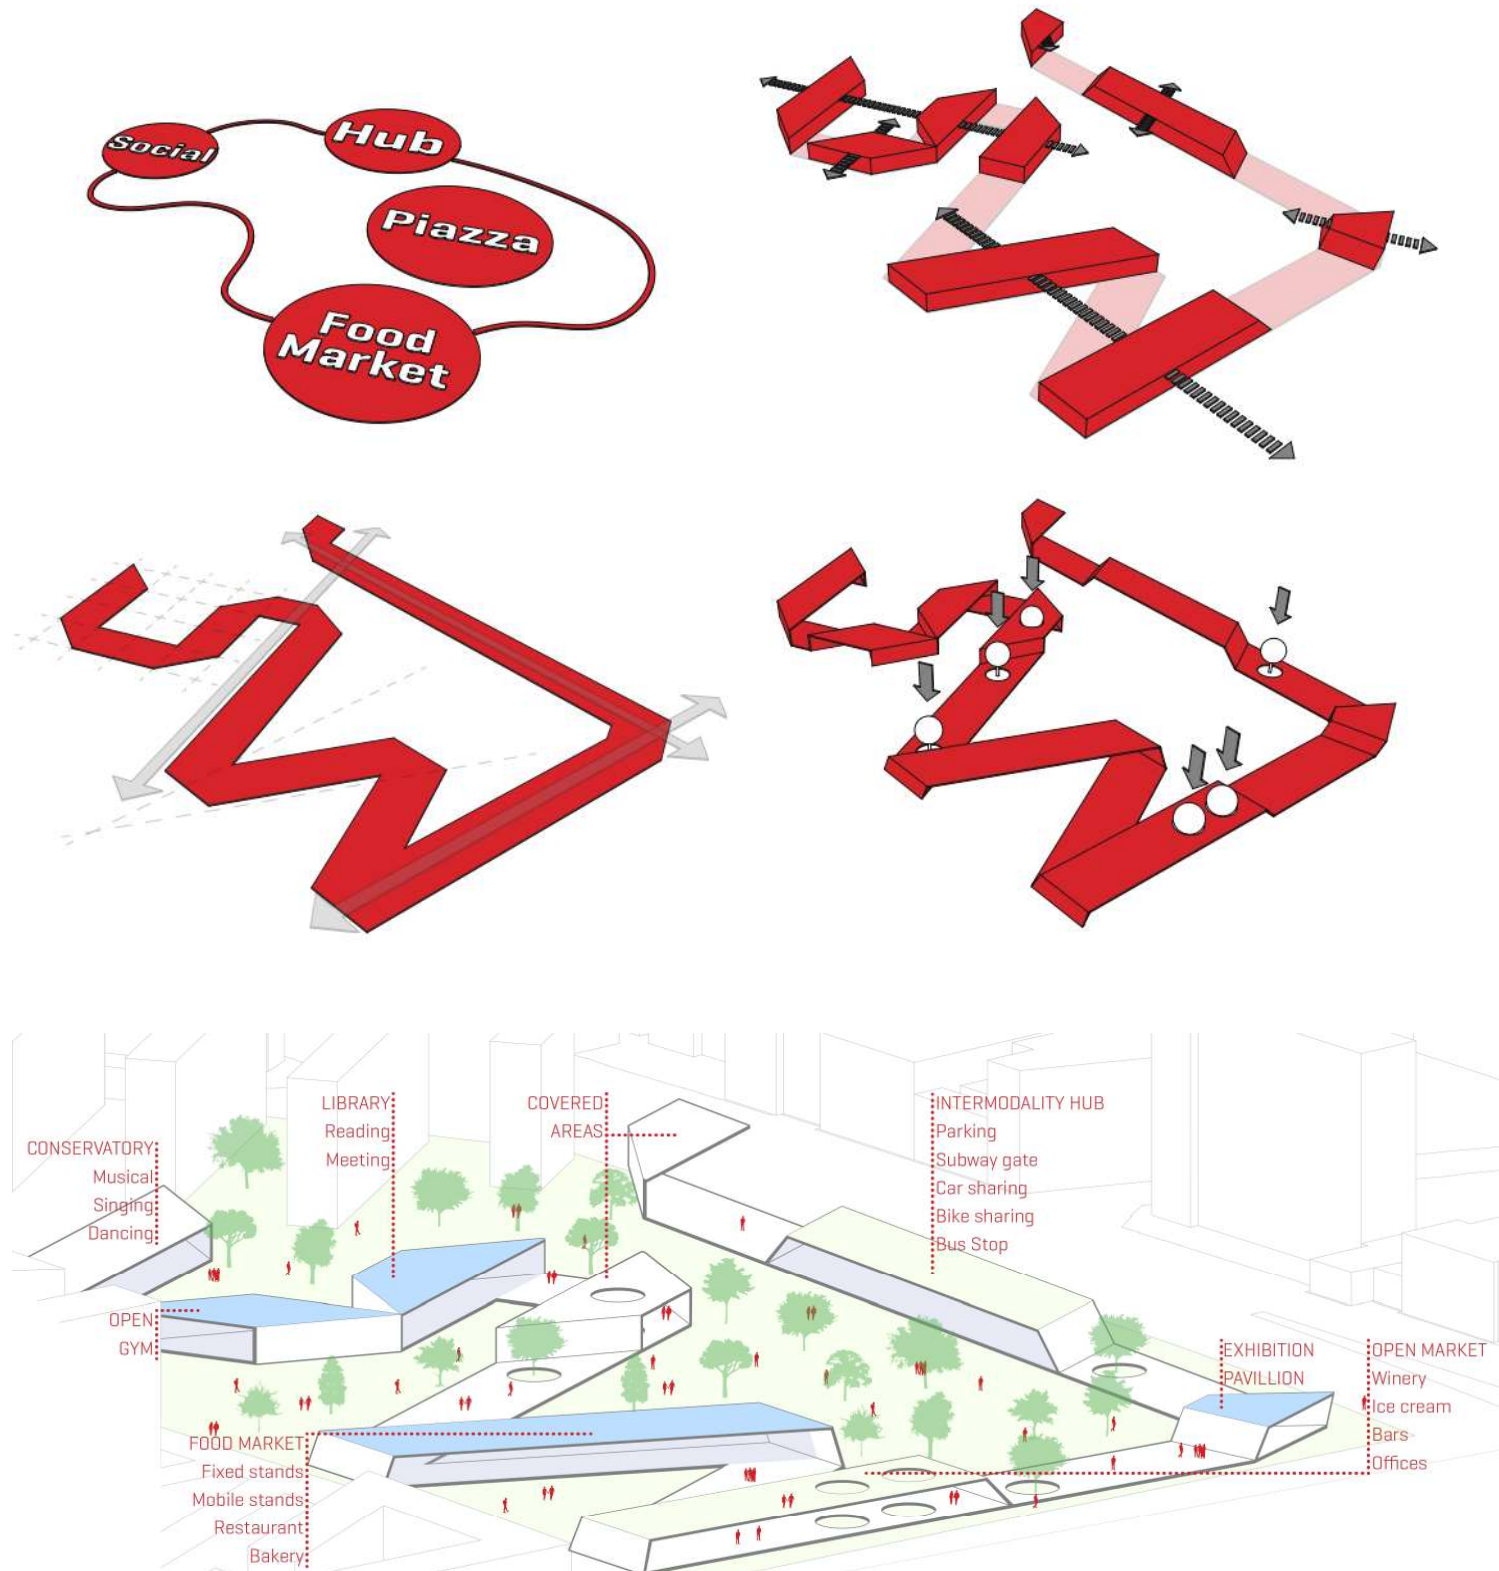

This is a project of a Market and a Cultural Center. The goal of it was to make Porto di Mare a better place for its neighbors, and more attractive destination for tourists.

The project mixes culinary culture with music and dance, as to create a Cultural Center to cover the interest of a large number of persons.

DESIGN PROCESS

- The design of the building is fluid. The shape is continuous.
- Users of the cultural center are part of the shape. The pedestrian path is uninterrupted.
- The easy visual connection makes the project more interesting.
- Users can easily explore the facilities due to the great visual concession

MARKET PROJECT

During the design of the building, important aspects such as the solar and wind path were taken into account.

The design of the building chaged several times n orther to achive a self-sustaneble building with renewable energy.

